Presents:

Effective Marketing Plans

BY: WILSON ZEHR

Corporate sales and marketing teams have never been pushed harder. Year after year they are called upon to produce more sales with smaller budgets and fewer resources. These teams need to build highly successful marketing programs that won't break the bank. Of course, the only way to accomplish this is to become extremely effective.

Wilson Zehr brings more than 20 years of technology and communications industry experience. Join us in March to learn how to create a more effective marketing plan.

Wednesday, March 5, 2008
